BARBERSHOP QUARTETS TO PRESENT PROGRAM

Seven local barbershop quartets and the chorus of the Palos Verdes Chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quarter Singing in America, Inc. will present a program of old-fashioned four-part harmony singing at Torrance High School auditorium, 2200 Carson St., Saturday at 8 p.m., according to Truman V. Tyler, chapter president.

Robert A. Dickinson will be master of ceremonies. Under the direction of Hank Groh, the chapter chorus will open the program with renditions of "When You Were Sweet Sixteen," "Tell Me You'll Forgive Me" and "Yona From Arizona."

Other quartets to appear will be The 'D' Ranglers, an all-girl quartet; The Saints Quartet of South Bay Chapter, The Chordials of Arcadia Chapter, and The Four Bits of Harmony, comedy quartet of Long Beach chapter.

Concluding the program will be a medley of "Coney Island Baby," "The Old Songs," and "Keep America Singing" to be presented by the combined quartets and chorus.

Tickets may be obtained at the box office Saturday night.

Blame for Poisoning of Children Laid to Parents

By ROY O. GILBERT, M.D., County Health Officer

Accidental poisoning in children is disturbingly frequent. In California alone, an estimated 23,340 children under the age of five were victims of accidental poisoning during 1957, while in the fiscal year 1957-58, poison caused eleven deaths in children under five in Los Angeles County alone. Investigation of these deaths revealed that in most instances careless parents were largely responsible. Sad to say, with some care and foresight, probably all of these fatalities could have been prevented.

Up until they are about two or a little more, children have a tendency to put everything they can get their hands on into their mouths. As a result, out of an estimated 600,000 children in the United States who swallow poison every year, three out of every four are between the ages of one and two.

CHILDREN OF THIS tender age will also chew on objects that are too large to ingest. They will tackle painted toys, woodwork, furniture and other unlikely things with relish that apparently passes adult understanding. Yet if the paint on such articles happens to be of the type that contains more than one per cent of lead, serious illness or death may result from lead poisoning.

Production of candy medications including, among others, orange-flavored vitamin tablets, candy aspirins, chocolate and custard flavored antibiotics, and fruit-flavored sulfonamide syrups, has actually become a business within the pharmaceutical industry. Although many child specialists fight the trend to more and more candied medicants, some physicians are still convinced that the palatability is a danger within itself. They justify the use of this type of medication as the only form in which some children can be treated.

LITTLE CAN BE DONE, it has been said, about the inherent curiosity of young children but, nevertheless, it is the studied opinion of Public Health Service officials that 95 per cent of childhood poisonings are preventable. Some authorities go even further and make it 100 per cent.

This seems to place the responsibility for poisoning in young children directly upon parents or other adults who may care for them. Which, when all is said and done, is simply putting it where it belongs.

A list of first aid measures in poisonings, released by the American Medical Association, will be mailed to anyone sending a card of request to the Division of Public Health Education, Los Angeles County Health Department, 214 N. Figueroa St., Los Angeles 12.

IN THE OPINION of other doctors, many young children will eat anything whether it tastes good or not. However, like all potentially hazardous

Garden Checklist By California Association of Nurserymen

1. Keep Fuchsias growing fast with regular watering and feeding. Pinch out some new growth to guide the rest in whatever direction you choose.
2. Tag Bearded Iris when in bloom so you'll know what colors you are dividing and replanting after bloom is gone.
3. Tomatoes are often fussy about their climate requirements. The plants your nurseryman offers are adapted to your own area.
4. Feed Camellias, Azaleas and Rhododendrons with acid-type fertilizer after bloom. Keep them moist at all times.
5. Shop nurseries for a vine to provide overhead shade in patios or terraces. Grapes are one answer and can be set out from nursery containers now.
